

Snyder's Crookedness in Early Case

To whom it may concern:

We, the undersigned jurors, respectfully state that we are members of the trial jury that tried Elbert Early on charge of shooting Ed Smith and while we are not interested in the Circuit Judges race our attention has been called to an instruction claimed by supporters of J. B. Snyder to have been given by Judge Rose in this case and we, in all fairness to all the parties, state that the instruction as copied in the Whitley County News, Mr. Snyder's paper, was not the instruction given in the case by Judge Rose. And we further state that we acquitted Early on the ground that J. B. Snyder, the Commonwealth's Attorney, failed to show Early committed the crime.

This jury in the Early case exposes the Snyder falsehood. Shows Early was acquitted, not by reason of any instruction of Rose, but Snyder by his weak prosecution showed that Bryant, not Early, shot Smith.

The LaFollette Press, called Whitley News, cannot fool the people any longer.

J. C. BIRD'S ANNOUNCEMENT

PLEASES MANY

In this issue of the Record will be found the announcement of Hon. J. C. Bird, of Whitley County, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney for this district.

Mr. Bird needs no introduction to the voters of McCreary County. Had it been left to the voters of this county he would have been on the Circuit Court bench now, as McCreary County gave him a large majority over his opponents for Circuit Judge four years ago.

Mr. Bird has been practicing law for several years, having graduated from the National University at Washington, D. C. in the class of 1901. He served Whitley County as County Attorney for four years with distinction. The people of this section have not forgotten the good work he did in this community and while he was County Attorney and while this was a part of Whitley County. It has been said of him by the older citizens here that he did more to suppress lawlessness in this neighborhood than any other man who ever served in a public capacity.

It is also to be remembered that the creation of McCreary County was due largely to his efforts and influence. It looked as if the bill creating the new county was going to be defeated in spite of all the combined efforts of its friends, when Mr. Bird, who was then County Attorney of Whitley County, was asked to go and he went to Frankfort and appeared before the committee which had the bill in charge and made a speech which won, not only the committee but a large number of other members of the Legislature, and as a result of this speech the bill was reported favorably and became a law the last day of the session. There were a score or more McCreary County men present on this occasion who have always contended that the efforts of Mr. Bird saved the new county.

Taking all these things into consideration is it any wonder that the people of McCreary County feel exceedingly friendly toward him and if he is less popular in this county than when we voted for him four years ago we do not see any signs of it. In fact we believe the voters of McCreary County, both men and women, will come to his support again. We believe the people of McCreary County owe it to him to help elect that he may serve the county and prosecute in the Court House which possibly would not have been except for his efforts. We believe that McCreary County will give him a substantial majority on August the 6th.—McCreary County Record.—Pol. Adv.

WITHDRAWAL

To my Friends in the 34th Judicial District:—

After two months of campaigning in this terrible heat I find myself broke down and the hardest part of the campaign yet to come. I am not physically unable to wage a winning fight. I must therefore withdraw from the race for Commonwealth's Attorney.

I shall be under everlasting obligations to those friends in the District who came to my support. I thank them from the bottom of my heart and release them from their pledges to me and hope some time to be able to repay them for their friendship to me.

I believe I could have won the fight if I were able to continue it. But I can't do that broke down.

Thanking my friends again, I am,
Very truly,
J. F. CATRON.

THE COUNTY COURT

CLERK'S RACE

There is more Americanism shown in this race than in any race for county offices. The laboring people, professional men and women white and black just come out boldly and bravely and say, "We are for Mrs. D. W. Slusher for County Court Clerk." I was in a community on the south side of the Cumberland River the other day and the people there say these two men are trying to take this lady's job. I would like for these two men to stop and think. Suppose one of them should die and leave his wife with a job that would enable her to work and keep her children together and some one would attempt to take it from her. If it was possible for them to know it they would almost think a robber was a credit to them.

Do you know what these two men say when the good people ask them what would become of the three orphan children if they take this mother's job from her? They have the impudence to stand up in a good woman's face and say, send them to the orphan's home. Think of these two hard hearted men. Ladies, they would say this about you and your children if you was in Mrs. Slusher's shoes. They would say, let your children go to the orphan's home and Mr. John Sear's children stay at home with their father and mother and let the three little Slusher children be sent off some 200 miles to grieve for their dead father sleeping in his grave in Flat Lick, Ky., and their mother somewhere at hard labor to make a living, and it a poor one.

People, do the right thing in this. Let John Sear and Henry Mills stay on their farms and keep their children with them and enjoy life and make money, and let the poor, pitiful woman keep her job. These two men have two good farms. John Sear and Henry Mills, and they just want to take it because they think they can.

I don't believe Henry Mills would do this if it wasn't for others urging him to do it.

She is a believer in Union Labor and Union Labor will not stand for taking a job from a Mother. Be on the Lord's side and help this Mother to hold her job. The laboring people are all for her.

DR. JOPLIN HERE

Dr. George A. Joplin, secretary of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, was here this week and spoke in the afternoon and evening on the supreme necessity of co-operative Sunday School work. There is room for all churches to work and the pity of it is that so little work is done in a field so large. Like Dr. Joplin we hesitate to give the figures of those who know nothing or practically nothing of Christianity in Kentucky. They are appalling. The speaker urged the prayers and co-operation of parents in making the work a success.

Mrs. J. L. Stanfill spent a couple of days in Middlesboro this week.

JORDAN THANKS HIS FRIENDS

My attention has been called to the numerous articles which have been appearing week by week in the columns of the Mountain Advocate, and I have carefully noted what my many good friends and neighbors have had to say in those articles in regard to my character as a man, my ability as a lawyer, and my chances for a sure nomination and election to the office of County Attorney of Knox County. I highly appreciate the many, many good things which they have had to say concerning my character, honesty, sobriety, and moral habits as a citizen, and my ability as a lawyer, and I assure my friends that no one could be more grateful and thankful to them for their endorsement than I.

I have always tried to live and measure up to the specifications which you have enumerated and set out in the columns of the Mountain Advocate, concerning my life's history which stands as an open book for inspection to all and I ask my honorable opponents or anyone else to show any blot or stain on my character. I have tried to live that kind of life of which you speak in order to make life more worth living for the benefit of myself and others.

I have never and do not now feel myself above the least one in this world, and I promise the people of Knox County if elected I shall be the same Jordan in the future as in the past.

I have spent my time and money to qualify myself as a lawyer and I leave it to the lawyers at the bar and the people who know me and have gone to school with me whether or not I have qualified myself for this high position. I have been a resident practicing attorney for nine years and I believe I have qualified myself also by experience, and I have exceeded the requirements of the present Constitution of Kentucky Section 100 of Kentucky Statute, which says that one to be eligible to the office of County Attorney must have been a licensed practicing attorney for two years.

If I am nominated and elected to this important office I promise the people of Knox County a faithful, honest and efficient administration of the affairs of the office and I assure them I will look after the financial interests of the County, as the County Attorney should do, and that I will prosecute to the best of my ability those who should be prosecuted for violations of the criminal laws. But I do not believe in prosecution for the selfish desires of any one.

I submit my claims to the voters of Knox County believing that I can give to the people of this County the high character of service which is very much needed in this important office, and I assure them that I will not swop, trade, sell, or otherwise dispose of my friends and their interests in the County's welfare.

Respectfully,
Pol. Adv. VICTOR A. JORDAN.

UNION COLLEGE SUMMER SCHOOL A SUCCESS

The Union College Summer School which opened up some weeks ago with thirty or forty pupils has been a pronounced success. Each teacher who takes this course is allowed a larger salary in consequence.

The same teachers, Dean G. M. Ryder, Prof. L. B. Peavy and Prof. Raymond Ryder, of Oklahoma City High School, have been in charge of the Institute this week. The better the teachers of these courses, the better the teachers of the County and we congratulate the College on its choice of teachers.

Charles Owens left last week for Iowa where he will join a Chautauqua and go on a circuit as clarinet and saxophone soloist.

FRED SMITH KILLED NEAR APPALACHIA, VA.

Fred Smith, son of Bill Smith of Artemus, who is well known as a meat vendor thru this section, was killed at Appalachia, Va., Sunday while in a fight with another man. The fight was one of fists, a thing somewhat rare in these sections of the Mountains, and Fred had his antagonist down, when it is alleged that a man named Thompson pulled an automatic and shot Fred three times thru the hip, the bullets entering the body and killing him. No further particulars have been obtained.

BILLY SUNDAY IN CORBIN

It is expected that the Billy Sunday party in the private car of Mr. Mapother, president of the L. & N., will arrive in Corbin about 5 p.m. and remain about two hours. The meeting will be held in the open air. From Corbin Mr. Sunday and his party will go on to Winona Lake, Ind., to the Annual Bible Conference.

KING NEWS (From Last Week)

Everybody is busy picking berries and laying by corn.

W. R. Vaughn lost a fine Jersey cow last week. The report is that she was choked to death.

Bertha Martin, of Swan Lake, has been visiting at Prichard Branch for a few days.

Sunday School at Logan Gap is progressing nicely.

Last week June 20 to 25, was Junior Week at Lexington. At this meeting club members and leaders from about forty counties met and camped for the week on the University grounds. It sure was a nice as well as an instructive week and was enjoyed by all who attended. Neva Elliott, Ora Shelton, Bill Lundy and W. C. Elliott were Knox County's representatives at this meeting.

Everyone in this neighborhood is very much grieved over the death of R. A. Ferguson, from a gun shot wound. James Reese Lewallen is said to have been the one who did the shooting, but the particulars are not generally known. It is reported that Lewallen was drinking.

July 25 to 29 will be Junior Club Camp Week at Barbourville. At this camp the club members from Clay, Harlan, Bell and Knox will meet and be instructed by some of the best lecturers in the State on club work, scientific farming and domestic science. Every club boy and girl should plan to attend this camp. It will be practically free. Each member will bring his own grub and bedding and pay 50 cents for the week to pay the cook.

W. C. E.

Mrs. G. M. Richards and Mrs. Gibbs Lusk attended the Billy Sunday meeting in Norton last Sunday. Everything has been so well thought out that the large numbers in attendance are all comfortably looked after and the hotels have plenty of good accommodations.

You'll find it in the Advocate.

THIRD STILL BAGGED

Sheriff B. P. Walker and four deputies, J. F. Dozier, W. M. Johnson, Murph Cannon and R. E. Burnett, took another still Wednesday, this one being on the George Miller place on Fighting Creek.

The moonshiners had dug a hole in the bottom land for their water supply. The still was warm showing it had been recently operated but the whiskey was gone. The worm also was missing.

No arrests have yet been made.

This program will be rendered at the Baptist Institute Sunday night beginning promptly at 6:45. It has been with some difficulty that our organization has been kept going since school was out. However we,
the officers, have decided that we are going to make a big success of our Union. Without co-operation no president or set of officers can make a "go" of anything. In our town within easy distance of the churches there are enough young people to keep a B. Y. P. U., a Christian Endeavor and an Epworth League all going.

Sunday night we are going to put forth every effort to give you not only a hearty welcome but a program that will mean something to you. If you are in a position to influence some young person to come to our program and if you don't feel that your boy or girl, or your friends would do well to take advantage of such an opportunity you can forget it, but if, on the other hand, you believe that it would do your children or friends good encourage them to join. Come and bring them.

While this is a meeting expressly for young people we like to have the older folks present. In behalf of the B. Y. P. U. I cordially invite you and your friends to attend this program.

Yours respectfully,
BOONE SMITH.

off by J. R. O. E. A. M. and Artemus and Swan Lake. J. R. O. E. A. M. won over Artemus by a score of 9 to 5 but Swan Lake beat them by two points. Shirley Shelton starred with a home run in the last half of the 9th inning giving the score to the Juniors.

GEO. DAD HAMMONS HAS LEFT KNOX COUNTY

Sheriff B. P. Walker reports that Geo. Dad Hammons is reported to have left this section. It is also said he was seen by a citizen of Knox County in Corbin April 4th leaving for Laurel County that day.

A careful search of the neighborhood has been made, people have been interrogated, but no one has been found who will definitely state that he has seen him. It is even hinted that he has gone into Canada.

Sheriff Walker has tried to secure his photograph to broadcast over the country, but has not been successful. If anyone knows of this man's whereabouts he is urged to let Sheriff Walker know.

LOGAN INFIRMARY NOTES

Mrs. J. H. Black was operated on Saturday and is doing well.

Elizabeth Blackburn was operated on Monday for appendicitis.

Lee Broughton underwent an appendectomy Saturday.

A. L. Meyers was taken to the infirmity after a serious accident. He was riding on the engine when a hazy rabbit appeared on the track.
A. L. fired, but the shot entered his foot—not the rabbit's. An X-ray examination disclosed the fact that altho the wound was a nasty one it is not of a lasting or serious nature.

Mrs. Ethel Owens, of Teague, had her tonsils removed Saturday.

FREEZING FRUIT TO HELP PRESERVATION

Method Has Passed Experimental Stage in West.

Practice is to be Recommended in Sections Where There is Surplus and Sufficient Cold-Storage Space Available.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Preserving fresh fruit by freezing has passed the experimental stage in the Middle Western and Pacific states.
The office of preservation of fruits and vegetables, bureau of markets, has been investigating the new method for several years and the investigators report that such fruits as strawberries, raspberries, logan berries, blueberries, currants and cherries are now being frozen and held in commercial lots.

So far as the process is concerned, this method of preservation has all the merits of simplicity. The fruit is frozen in the same crates in which it is marketed. The temperature required is about 10 degrees F., though soft fruit is usually subjected to a lower temperature than that of better quality. So long as the temperature is maintained the fruit can be kept in storage. The frozen product must be used as soon as it is thawed, however, as thawing breaks down the tissues and allows the fruit to decay rapidly.

In ice cream, or when made into pies and preserves, the frozen fruit is in every way comparable to the fresh product. In preparing their report the representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture state that the practice is to be recommended in sections where there is a surplus of production and sufficient cold-storage space available to accommodate the fruit. Only fresh, sound fruit should be frozen. Freezing does not do away with mold, though mold will not develop as long as the fruit remains at the temperatures employed.

TREATMENT OF BROODY HEN

Large and Unnecessary Loss in Summer Production of Farm Flock
Can Be Prevented.

There often is a large and altogether unnecessary loss in the summer production of the farm flock, due to the Coop for Broody Hens.

Idleness of numbers of broody hens which are permitted to remain on the nests indefinitely and so are unproductive for many weeks. If such hens are removed from the nest as soon as broodiness develops, are placed in a comfortable coop, and well fed and watered, they usually can be broken up promptly.

There is nothing better than the coop shown here. It is made of pine boards. The floor should be about a foot from the ground. The sides and floor are made of slats spaced one-half to three-quarters of an inch apart.

CULTIVATION IS IMPORTANT

Work Neglected in Garden Often Means Poor Vegetables and Then
Very Few of Them.

The mistake of waiting till one has time to spare to cultivate the garden has too often meant poor garden vegetables, and few of them. The garden should be cultivated when the soil is in the proper condition and when the vegetables need it. It should not wait;
it is as important as any other farm work and more important than most of it.

HARMFUL TO PASTURE WOODS

Practice Has Been One of Chief Causes of Deterioration—Young Growth Destroyed.

Pasturing of woods has been one of the chief causes of their deterioration. The severity of the damage depends largely on the number of stock and the size of the woods. One characteristic of a heavily pastured woods is the almost complete absence of young growth, or its existence only in small ragged patches as broken or scrubby stuff.

GIVE BREEDING FLOCK CARE

Watch Fowls Carefully and See That
They Are in Good Condition, Advise Specialists.

Watch the breeding flock carefully and see that the fowls keep in good breeding condition, the United States Department of Agriculture advises, in Farmers' Bulletin 1116, on the selection and care of poultry breeding stock. The birds and houses should be examined to see that they are not infested with lice or mites.

Here's why CAMELS are the quality cigarette

BECAUSE we put the utmost quality into this One brand. Camels are as good as it's possible for skill, money and lifelong knowledge of fine tobaccos to make a cigarette.

Nothing is too good for Camels. And bear this in mind! Everything is done to make Camels the best cigarette it's possible to buy. Nothing is done simply for show.

Take the Camel package for instance. It's the most perfect packing science can devise to protect cigarettes and keep them fresh. Heavy paper —secure foil wrapping—revenue stamp to seal the fold and make the package air-tight. But there's nothing flashy about it. You'll find no extra wrappers. No frills or furbelows.

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And remember—you must pay their extra cost or get lowered quality.

If you want the smoothest, mellowest, mildest cigarette you can imagine—and one entirely free from cigarettey aftertaste,

It's Camels for you.

THE GIANT.

"I'm going to tell you this evening of the fine big Giant met by the boy and girl who were adventuring," said Daddy.

"Sounds exciting," said Nancy. "All adventures, somehow, sound exciting," said Nick.

"First of all," said Daddy, "the Giant gave the boy and the girl a lecture.

"I don't like giving you a sermon," he told them, "but if there is one thing I despise, it is a creature who, because he is big, bullies the smaller one. The Toad felt the same way about it, so he punishes as often as he possibly can those who do such cowardly things as to hurt creatures smaller than themselves.

"A toad doesn't put on any airs and graces. He's natural. That is why I let my friend, the Toad, do this fine work. He deserves a fine job.

"Ah, no one likes the bully, and, in the end, you'll be found out to be a coward if you let yourself go on being a bully. A bully is really a coward—it's the same with nations as with boys and girls.

"The boy felt he would never be a leader if he did such dreadful things and he began to feel very sad, but the Giant comforted him.

"You are discouraged," said the Giant, "because you do not do all the fine things you wish to do and you do things you wish like anything you hadn't.

"But we all make mistakes. And you're on the right road to the House of Secrets. You have met the Toad.

"How About It?"

and he shows you a secret—you've learned that one already!

"Now, you should feel happy and gay. But you must rest, too. You must fix up your tent. Make haste. In the morning the sun will shine and you'll start off again. You must start off in the morning."

"But Giant," said the boy, "we have no tent."

"What! You came on a trip of adventures without a tent? Well, there is only one thing to do about it. We'll have to call on Mrs. Wood Elf and ask her if she can put you up for the night.

"Come with me and we shall see."

"The boy and the girl followed the Giant and turned off the road into a dense forest. The Giant pushed back the branches and waited until the boy took hold of them, so they wouldn't fly back in their faces.

"They went on and on for some little distance.

"Won't we lose our way when morning comes and we're trying to get back again?" asked the boy.

"Mrs. Wood Elf will show you the way back," said the Giant. "There she is, now."

"They looked and saw the ugliest person they had ever beheld. She was small and her face was very red. They had imagined from her name that she was going to be quite beautiful. The boy almost laughed aloud, and the girl's nose almost wrinkled into a disappointed look, but a wink from the Giant made them careful.

"Will you put up these two young people for the night?" asked the Giant. "They're making their way to the House of Secrets, I've been told. They're a good pair—they want adventures. How about it? Will you put them up so that they can go on with their adventures tomorrow?"

"Surely, surely," said Mrs. Wood Elf. "And glad I'll be of the company. Mr. Wood Elf has gone to get some fish and vegetables and early delicacies, and is stopping with some friends in the next wood. It was his turn to look after the larder. We take turns, you know."

"Different from some creatures we've met," said the boy.

"Mr. Gnome (no relation of Peter)," said the girl, "lets his wife do all the work, and so he never grows any bigger, because his mind won't let him. Mrs. Gnome grows more wrinkled because she works so hard and because she won't see that it isn't fair to him to spoil him so."

"I've never met them," said Mrs. Wood Elf. "But we each take our own share of the work and find it works splendidly."

"So you'll leave the adventures with me?" said Mrs. Wood Elf.

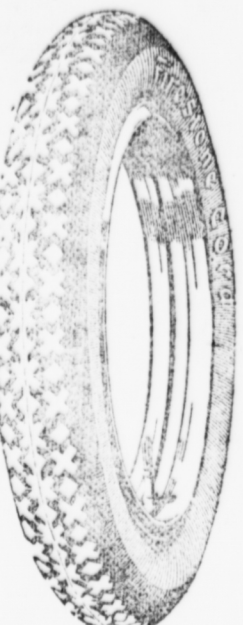

"In your safekeeping," said the Giant. "Then tomorrow they may have more adventures."

"Good-bye, nice Giant," the boy and girl said.

COULD BEAT HANDS SHUCKING HIS CORN

At Least J. A. White Would Bet So, After Being Relieved of Dyspepsia By Tanlac.

"My wife and myself have had stomach trouble," says Mr. J. A. White, residing on the Leestown Pike, R. F. D. No. 6, near Lexington Ky., "and have both been nervous and run down.

"We could not eat anything without suffering afterwards and could not sleep at night. We were regular nervous dyspeptics. We tried many remedies without permanent benefit until we heard of Tanlac. I got this medicine and began using it. We noticed immediate results. We are both greatly improved by Tanlac. We give all credit for the change of health to Tanlac. It is a remarkable medicine.

"I personally feel so good that I told my hands a day or two ago that I could beat any of them shucking corn. I meant it and believe I could have beat 'em all.

Of all the maladies that afflict humanity chronic dyspepsia, such as Mr. and Mrs. White suffered from, is probably the most prevalent and hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and bodily of the victims of chronic dyspepsia.

A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind aside from the nervous physical suffering, is the usual state of the average dyspeptic and life seems scarcely worth the living.

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine, was designed especially for overcoming this distressing condition and millions of people have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results. It seems to go straight to the spot, toning up and invigorating every organ in the body—Advt.

HOME COURSE IN DOMESTIC SCIENCE

"Twenty Lessons in Domestic Science," by Marion Cole Fisher has recently been received by us for review.

This is a complete advanced course in domestic and home science and home economics boiled down to meet the requirements of the housewife and the student.

The entire course consists of twenty practical lessons—one hundred pages filled with the most valuable information the housewife can possess—heretofore taught only in domestic science schools.

Do you know the relative value of food, which fruits to use for cooking, what purpose salads serve, the correct use of condiments, about proper kitchen equipments, about U. S. Government's bulletins, how to reduce the high cost of living, how to promote your own and your family's health, how to make house-keeping simpler and more economical and pleasant by utilizing modern science in the home.

This book, we note, is priced at $2.00 per copy and from what we understand it contains a complete $100.00 college course, condensed, and it is practically FREE to every interested housewife.

Write the Home Economics Department of the National Baking Powder Co., 1400-25, Milwaukee St., Chicago, Ill. for full particulars regarding the book and how to get it.

FROM THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

WHEREAS: Official reports from many widely separated counties indicate an unusual state-wide epidemic of typhoid fever, a serious illth disease, and of smaller bowel borne diseases, including diarrhea, dysentery, and summer complaint in children; and,

WHEREAS: These diseases are spread from the sick to the well only from unclean-for bowel discharges and urine; NOW, THEREFORE, acting under the authority conferred upon it by law

The State Board of Health of Kentucky requests every citizen of the State to be vaccinated against typhoid fever by his or her family physician as soon as possible with reliable vaccine material furnished free from this office which is produced in the same careful manner as that which successfully protected the lives of our 5,000,000 soldiers during the World War, and that every family living outside the secured districts of the cities is requested to install a Kentucky Sanitary Privy. Literature in regard to both these measures may be obtained by a postal card request to the State Board of Health, Louisville, Ky.

NEW FIRESTONE TIRE UNIVERSAL IN ADAPTATION

Considerable local interest has been aroused over the new type of truck tire on display at the Parrott Garage, the Firestone agency. According to Mr. Parrott the new tire has caused quite a sensation in tire and truck circles.

It seems that from general opinion based on the performance of the different cushion tires on the market there is an impression that cushions can be used only on small trucks. The new Giant Cushion completely overthrows this theory for it can be adapted to any size truck from three-fourths of a ton to seven and one-half tons. Also it can be used in every type of service Firestone experts say.

According to Mr. Parrott the large volume of rubber, extra width of tread and larger contact on the road gives a low pressure and strain on the tire which makes it generate less heat and live longer. He further points out that this new giant cushion with its cups, grooves and cross bars makes a non-skid tread as nearly perfect as can be in a tire without air. Together with the familiar Firestone cushion shape these features keep down the tendency of the tire's edges breaking off, common with solids due to abuse by the operators.

Being of S. A. E. Dimensions, built to carry heavy loads and able to protect the roads from abuse it is no wonder that production is already falling behind the sales of this new Giant Cushion.

ENCHANTING MILLINERY

Wherever fashionables congregate on an afternoon or evening in the coming summer, our eyes are destined to feast upon such enchanting millinery as that shown above. In this group of four hats both France and America are represented by models that vie with one another. The topmost hat, from Paris, is made of a fabric having black cellophane figures on a henna-colored silk background. Another French hat approves this long draping at the side, as shown in the round hat of navy blue crepe with band of pink crushed roses. Navy blue was chosen, having black cellophane decoration, for its handsome rival with black lace veiling the eyes and America further distinguishes itself in the all-black satin hat with cellophane trimming and long lace veil that finishes the picture.

TOMATO PLANTS DEMAND WARMTH

Early Ripening Can Be Secured in Most Sections Only by Starting Indoors.

KEEP MODERATELY WATERED

Just Such Soil as Will Grow Crop of Corn or Potatoes Is Recommended—Little Well-Rotted Manure Will Help.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There is perhaps no product of the garden that is so refreshing or palatable as well-ripened, fresh tomatoes, and they can be used in such a variety of ways. While fresh tomatoes are preferable to canned ones they lose very little flavor or quality in the canning and good canned tomatoes add very materially to the food supply of the winter months.

To Get Early Tomatoes.

Early ripening adds greatly to the value of the tomato crop and early tomatoes can be secured in most sections only by starting the plants indoors. Garden specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture say it is easy to grow plants indoors by sowing a small packet of tomato seed in a cigar box filled with mellow soil about six or eight weeks before the usual time of the last killing frost in spring. The seeds should be covered about one-quarter inch and the soil kept moderately watered and the plants will generally come up in less than a week after planting the seeds. Keep the box near a window where it will get plenty of sunlight, and turn it around each day to make the plants grow straight.

Hardy Tomato Plant Started in Pot.

When the plants begin to crowd each other, which will be in about 15 days after they come up, secure a large, flat box, say three inches deep and just long enough to fit into the window, fill it with rich, sifted soil and transplant, giving each plant about two inches of space. With proper care to turn the box from time to time and also to keep the soil moderately watered the plants will be about four inches high, strong, and stocky when the weather has warmed enough to make it safe to set them in the garden.

Warmth Is Required.

Tomatoes naturally grow in a warm climate and require plenty of warmth from the start. The plants should be kept at about a living-room temperature until a few days before they are to be set in the garden; then they should be gradually exposed to outdoor conditions to harden them. After they are set in the garden it may be necessary to cover them for a few nights with several thicknesses of newspaper to protect them from the cold.

Tomatoes require a moderately rich soil, not too rich, but just such soil as will grow a good crop of corn or potatoes. A little well-rotted manure can be worked into the spot where each plant is to be set and a tablespoonful of high-grade fertilizer sprinkled over a space about one foot in diameter and mixed with the soil will aid in giving the plant a good start. Planting distances will depend upon whether the plants are to be pruned to a single stem and trained to stakes or are to be allowed to grow according to their natural habit of spreading over the ground. If the plants are to be trained they may be set in rows as close as three feet and spaced 18 inches in the row. If they are not to be trained the plants should be set three to four feet apart in each direction.

CATER TO MARKET DEMANDS

Shipment of Unsatisfactory Stock by Growers Seriously Affects Prices Offered.

Shippers of potatoes would profit by heeding market demands and preferences, say specialists of the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture. Dealers and consumers, they find, do not desire badly cut, mashed, frosted, or decayed potatoes, or those damaged by sunburn, blight, dry rot, or an excess of scab or second growth. Markets frequently are overloaded. It is said, prices seriously affected, and unnecessary losses suffered by growers because of the shipment of such unsatisfactory stock.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MRS. WOOD ELF.

"I'll have some hot broth directly," said Mrs. Wood Elf to the boy and girl who were adventuring, commented Daddy.

Heart of the Woods.

"The fire is all laid," she went on, "and I only need to strike a match to it."

"She went off a little distance to light the fire, which was in the heart of the woods, but in a place where the trees were very high and where the branches of the pines would not be reached by the flames. The underbrush here had all been cut away."

"While she was gone the girl said: 'Have you ever seen such an ugly creature? Why, the toad was beautiful company compared to her, and so was Mrs. Gnome, with her wrinkled face and her skinny body.'

"Yet I like her better than Mrs. Gnome," said the boy. "Don't you?"

"Yes, somehow I do," said the girl. "She has such a nice voice and Mrs. Gnome has such a shrill one. She has such a lovely voice at times I almost think she must be beautiful, and then I look at her and I find she is about as ugly as ever. At first she frightened me because she was so ugly, but she doesn't frighten me at all now."

"Here she comes!" said the boy, "but look! I don't believe that is Mrs. Wood Elf at all. She looks like her, and yet she is so much better looking. It must be her sister or her cousin."

"Well, children, the broth is all ready. Come and sit around the fire, and then we must off to bed."

"It was certainly Mrs. Wood Elf's voice, and yet as she went on talking she seemed to grow better looking all the time. She almost seemed beautiful to the boy and the girl before they had finished their broth. And her face no longer seemed so red and queer."

"Oh," said Mrs. Wood Elf, for she was still Mrs. Wood Elf, even though she did look so different, "what good times we have here in the woods! We have games and plays and we go off on our adventures just as you do. Sometimes we wander down to the House of Secrets, too, stopping on the way and visiting our friends and relatives."

"Oh, won't you start off with us and go to the House of Secrets?" asked the boy.

"Sorry," said Mrs. Wood Elf, "I'd do a great deal to oblige you, but that can't be done."

"Why not?" asked the girl.

"Because every one has to first find the House of Secrets himself without any help from folks who know the way. We may direct him and tell him which way to turn, but he has to follow the road and travel along it without our help."

"And not until he has been in every room in the House of Secrets will he know all the roads which lead to it. You see, every one has to have his own adventures. We can't have them for you. And so we can't take your trip for you or with you. You've got to work it out yourselves, though we may point the way to go."

"Every creature under the sun has to do his own traveling himself, even if lots of others may go along, too, or may meet him on the way. He has to really have his own adventures, others can't have them for him."

"We can't go along, too, for we know the way, and everyone must find the House of Secrets by himself. We can only act as little guide posts."

"You see," said Mrs. Wood Elf, "if it were any other way there really wouldn't be half the fun in life. If we were told just what we wanted to do, and where we wanted to go and what to see because some one else had seen it, and so could tell us about it, and if we always did what was planned for us we wouldn't have any experiences of our own. And experiences are like adventures."

"That's because we're all separate creatures with separate minds!"

"Three Feet Make a Yard."

"How much is a yard?" asked an undergraduate jokingly.

"Ten shillings," promptly replied the pork butcher.

"Then I'll take a yard."

"Where's your money?"

Half a sovereign was laid down. The old man quickly pocketed the coin and then produced three pig's feet with the quiet remark, "Three feet make a yard."

HOW TO GROW AN ACRE OF TUBERS

Department of Agriculture Issues Bulletin to Aid Boy and Girl Club Members.

EVERY STEP CLEARLY GIVEN

Gravelly or Sandy Loam Soils, Well-Drained, Are Generally Considered Well Adapted to Production of Potatoes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

When a boy or girl in a potato-growing club succeeds in raising tubers at the rate of 300 to 600 bushels per acre, as many of them have done, it is a source of inspiration to other members of the club who are less fortunate, and, what is perhaps of greater importance, an object-lesson in their elders as to what can be accomplished when the crop is given proper attention. To guide boy and girl club members, as well as their elders, in producing big potato yields, the United States Department of Agriculture has recently published Farmers' Bulletin 1199, "How to Grow an Acre of Potatoes." It is prepared especially for use in boys' and girls' club work, and every step from the selection of the potato soil to the harvesting, grading, and storing of the crop is discussed.

Garden Club Boy in His Patch of Potatoes.

cluding bigger potato yields, the United States Department of Agriculture has recently published Farmers' Bulletin 1199, "How to Grow an Acre of Potatoes." It is prepared especially for use in boys' and girls' club work, and every step from the selection of the potato soil to the harvesting, grading, and storing of the crop is discussed.

Best Potato Soils.

Gravelly or sandy loam soils are generally considered especially well adapted to the production of large crops of potatoes, provided they are well drained and well supplied with plant food, says the bulletin. A very light sandy soil or a stiff clay soil should be avoided. The ideal soil is one that does not run together with rains, that works easily, is well supplied with humus, and, while well drained, is naturally supplied with mols are. Clover and alfalfa are regarded as the best preparatory crops for potatoes.

Prepare the Land Thoroughly.

Potato soils should be plowed as deeply as possible, but always remember not to turn up more than an inch of the subsoil. The fall is the best season to plow. When the land is plowed at this time it should be disked and harrowed as early in the spring as possible to conserve the moisture and to prevent weed growth. Spring-plowed land should be disked immediately, in order to prevent the possible packing of the newly turned soil. In preparing the seed bed spade up pains to put it in good condition. If the crop is planted on land that is poorly prepared, no amount of subsequent cultivation will entirely remedy the defect.

Select the variety that is known to be adapted to the section. Use the best seed obtainable, and, if possible, make sure that it has been produced from strong healthy plants that have developed a goodly number of tubers of even, marketable size and uniform shape. Before planting, the seed should be disinfected with formalin solution to prevent potato scab. Better yields are obtained by the use of from 15 to 18 bushels of seed per acre, though the average for the United States is 8 to 10 bushels. Cut blocky seed pieces, weighing from one to two ounces each.

After planting, keep the surface of the ground loose until the plants appear, then deep cultivation should begin, but as the crop develops shallow tillage is recommended. Insects and diseases should never be allowed to get established, but should be controlled by suitable fungicides and insecticides such as are described in the bulletin. When the crop is being harvested, a systematic effort should be made to select desirable tubers for next year's seed.

ROAD MARKERS ARE COSTLY

Disappointed Hunters Should Not Vent Their Spite on Signs Placed on Highways.

Hunters who cannot find anything to shoot at should not let out their spite on road markers. These markers have cost, as in the case of the Lincoln highway signs, $7 each. According to the Iowa highway commission, the destruction of such signs is punishable by law, as they are public property. Also next summer some self-luminous night light will be an extra sign when touring, which some other enthusiast has shot up.

TO WAGE HARD FIGHT AGAINST CORN BORER

Steps Taken to Prevent Spread of Insect Pest.

Specialists in Charge of Work Have Completed Plans for Carrying on Work—Infested Area Borders on Lake Erie.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Suppressive measures against the European corn borer are to be applied vigorously this spring in the western part of New York state to test the possibility of preventing the natural spread of this pest. Specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture in charge of the work have completed their plans, which will be carried out in cooperation with state agencies.

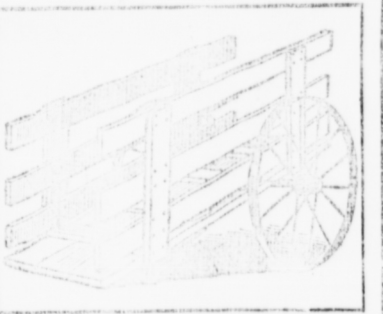

The infested area where the experiment is to be tried out borders on Lake Erie and partly on that section of Canada where the corn borer made its appearance last year. The fight is to be carried against the insect while in its winter quarters. The corn stubble and refuse that have been lying in the fields since last year's harvest will be cleaned up and burned.

Meanwhile, as another method of attack, thousands of cocoons of a small, wasp-like insect whose grub has been found to be a persistent enemy of the corn borer are being sent to the United States by a representative of the department who is in southern France studying the cocoons of the pest. Thus far about 50,000 cocoons have been received at the Boston office of the department, where they are hatched out and the winged insects liberated in hundreds in infested fields. The European corn borer, which has been known in this country but a few years, is looked upon as one of the most dangerous insect pests that have made their appearance in the United States. For the years are estimated that it will eventually make its way to the corn belt, infestations of the pest, now in sections of New York and Massachusetts, where federal quarantine is in effect to check the spread of the pest are therefore.

CHUTE FOR HANDLING STOCK

Comparatively Easy Matter to Construct Device as Illustrated—Old Wheelbarrow Useful.

Loading Chute on Wheels.

and unloading live stock. Make the chute as shown. A pair of old buggy or carriage wheels make it easy to handle.

GOOD COLLAR IS ESSENTIAL

Every Farmer Should Plan to Prevent Sore Necks and Shoulders of Work Horses.

Now that the busy season is here, every farmer should make a careful examination of the supply of horse collars on hand and see to it that he has a good fitting collar for every horse he purposes to put to work. Sore shoulders and sore necks on farm horses are generally caused either by collars that do not fit or by hames that are not properly adjusted.

CAREFULLY SAVE DROPPINGS

Either Use for Fertilizer or Dispose of to Persons Who Can Make Good Use of Them.

No matter how small the flock the droppings should be carefully saved, stored, and either used as fertilizer for plants or disposed of to persons who can so use them to increase the fertility of the soil.

A TIP TO OUR FOLKS

It is hard work to get folks in most communities to pass the news along to the editor of the home paper. S. A. Mellen, of the Plymouth, Wis., Reporter, tried an unusual slant the other day to stimulate "contribs." Here it is:—

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

By order of the Knox Circuit Court rendered at its April Term, 1921, in the case of H. R. Mink, Plaintiff, against Orville Mink, Defendant,

I will, as Master Commissioner, on the 25th day of July, 1921, same being the first day of the Knox County, Court, sell at the Court House door in Barbourville, Ky., to the highest and best bidder, the following described property, Real Estate, to satisfy the judgment in said case, and $40.00 probable cost.

Description:—1-8 undivided interest in the following lands:

Two tracts of land lying and being in Knox County, Kentucky, on the waters of Lynn Camp Creek and bounded as follows:—Lot No. 1—beginning at a black gum on west side of Salt Lick road; thence eastward down the hill with an old road to a branch, a corner of A. W. Hern don land; thence northwest down the road to a stone on the bank of Lynn Camp Creek; thence up the hill to the east corner of the grave yard; thence around on south side of lot to a by-way path on top of hill; thence with said path south to S. C. Surgenor's line; thence down the hill east to the beginning. Also Lot No. 2—beginning on a stone near the top of hill in last line of Lot No. 1; thence southward along side of hill to a stone; thence down the hill eastward to Salt Lick road; thence northward to the beginning of Lot No. 1 containing nine (9) acres more or less. First lot by deed conveyed to the party of the first part by Wm. Scott and wife, and A. B. Sams and wife by deed bearing date 4th day of May, 1901, and recorded in Deed Book No. 2, page 308; see also Lot No. 2 by deed bearing date, December 11, 1908, recorded in Deed Book No. 19, page 506, by Wm. Perce and wife to Josiah Sams; all of which is recorded in Knox County Court Clerk's office. And being the same tract of land owned by William Mink, deceased.

Said property will be sold on a credit of six months, the purchaser to execute bond with approved security, bearing interest at six per cent from date, having the force and effect of a judgment and retaining a lien on said property until the purchase money is paid.

WITNESS my hand, this the 7 day of July, 1921.

J. R. JONES,
Master Commissioner, Knox Circuit Court.

Sale about 1 p. m. Purchaser must execute bond as soon as sale is over or the property will be immediately put up and resold.

THE UNION SERVICE

Union service at the Christian Church on Sunday night was another success, with a fine attendance. Dr. W. B. Minton preached an excellent sermon on Lot and the consequences of his association with evil people.

The music was of the kind that every one can sing and this feature might be improved by using more hymns. Many people can be spiritually benefited by hymn singing and with sermons that are short to suit the vesper service and plenty hearty singing we believe many more will be drawn to attend.

We congratulate the churches on getting together for worship. In numbers there is enthusiasm and renewed strength.

Young men and young women, the Union Service needs you. At the Presbyterian Church Sunday night.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Pain Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Botner, of Manchester, were here this week on a visit to their son, Fred Botner, of the Cut Rate Drug Store and their daughter, Mrs. J. H. Black, who was operated on at the Logan Sanitarium Saturday and who is doing nicely.

William Jackson has repaired and painted his home on Knox Street.

A SERIOUS MATTER—POLICES CANCELED IN KNOX COUNTY

One of the prominent citizens of Barbourville was surprised to learn on trying to re-new his accident and health policy which he had carried for three years that the company is refusing business in Knox County and is cancelling policies written here as they apparently consider our business to be of too hazardous a nature. A number of our people are insured with this same company. This is a reflection on Knox County which will scarcely be relished.

SPINACH IS ADAPTED FOR EVERY LOCALITY

Plant Requires Rich Soil and Stands Cold Well.

Seed Bed Should Be Spaded and Quantity of Well-Rotted Manure Worked In—It Is Best for Use While Young and Tender.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Well-grown spinach is one of the best early spring and late fall greens that can be raised in the garden. Spinach is adapted for growing in practically every locality, requires a rich soil, stands cold as well or better than does lettuce, but does not do well during the hot part of the summer. United States Department of Agriculture garden specialists suggest one or two plantings in the early spring, just as soon as the danger of severe frost is past, and a planting late in the summer for fall use. Throughout the Splendid Patch of Spinach.

South spinach can be planted in October and remain in the open ground all winter.

For growing spinach in the home garden a bed about 3 feet in width and 25 or 30 feet in length should be spaded and a quantity of well-rotted manure worked into the top 3 inches of soil. Three pounds of commercial fertilizer should also be scattered over the surface and well worked into the soil. Six or eight ounces of seed will be sufficient for this space. Sow in little drills or furrows running lengthwise of the bed, the rows to be about 6 or 7 inches apart. The seed should be covered ½ inch deep and the soil slightly firmed over it. Watering may be necessary if the weather should be extremely dry following the planting of the spinach seed.

Spinach grows quickly and requires very little cultivation, except to loosen the soil a trifle between the rows and keep weeds from getting a start. If the plants are too thick—that is, crowd each other—they can be thinned out and those removed in thinning cooked for greens. The plants left will then have room to grow larger. Spinach is very desirable as an early spring green, as it contains plenty of iron and other mineral matter. It should always be used while young and tender.

QUALITIES OF FARM FENCES

To Give Satisfaction Barrier Must Be Made to Turn All Stock Without Injuring Them.

Farm fences should combine two qualities—service and economy—says the United States Department of Agriculture. To give satisfactory service the fence must be constructed so as to turn all kinds of stock without injuring them. To be economical it must be built as cheaply as is consistent with durability. The fence that is erected at a low initial cost is not necessarily economical, for it may be so short that it will be very expensive in the end.

The cost of maintaining a farm fence is determined by such factors as interest, repairs, and depreciation on the fence itself, interest on the value of land rendered unusable, and the expense of keeping down weeds. The cost of repairs and the annual depreciation depend largely on the construction. If a fence is made of a cheap grade of material and is cheaply constructed it will need frequent repair and will be short lived. Such a fence will have a high repair and depreciation charge, which in most cases will more than counter-balance the increased investment cost that the erection of a more substantial fence would require. If a fence is made of good materials and is properly built, its repair and depreciation charges should be very low.

The efficiency of a fence depends upon the quality of wire and posts used and upon the manner of construction.

LIME CORRECTS SOUR SOILS

Application Will Prove Beneficial to Small Garden Plot—Binds Loose, Sandy Loams.

An application of about 150 pounds of hydrated or air-slaked lime to a garden plot 30 by 60 feet in size will often prove beneficial. Lime has the effect of loosening and pulverizing any heavy clay soil and of binding loose, sandy soil. Lime also corrects sourness in the soil, which is often due to lack of drainage, but in a case of this kind drainage should be secured.

CONGRESSMAN ROBISON EX- PLAINS GOOD ROADS BILL

So that our people might understand what the Robison Good Roads Bill will mean to Kentucky and other states the editor called on Mr. Robison and received the following information in regard to the bill:

There are two good roads plans before Congress. My road bill was passed by the House by a vote of 266 to 77. This is known in the House now as the Robison Plan. The other bill was introduced by Senator Townsend from Michigan. This is known as the Townsend Plan. It has not passed the Senate yet. Our bill has gone to the Senate and these two plans will be together. We think our plan or the essential principles involved in our plan will be accepted by the Senate.

Our plan contemplates the perfecting and strengthening of the present good roads law. The law under which we are now operating was passed in 1916. We have spent five years time and millions of dollars in laying out systems of roads and perfecting road organizations thruout the forty-eight states. The constitution laws of all the states of the Union have been changed to meet the requirements of this National good roads law. Many states like Kentucky have by Legislative enactment laid out a system of roads which are to receive Federal aid.

This system of roads connects up every county seat in the Nation. A part of this system has already been built. Other parts of the system have been let to contract and are now under construction. The President of the United States, in his message, emphasized that Federal aid for the construction of good roads might now be considered as the accepted policy of this Government, and that it is a wise policy and should not be abandoned, but he said further, we must build our roads with a great correlated and consolidated system in mind so that every part of the Nation may be connected up and that when these Federal roads were once built they must not be turned loose to go to pieces and in a few years not have any roads, and provisions should be made for the upkeep and maintenance of these roads.

Now, our bill that passed the House improves, perfects and enlarges the present law so that we may have a great system of interstate and inter-county seat roads connected up together in the forty-eight states of the Union, and that the state should be the unit, and not the county, in providing plans and means for the maintenance and the up-keep of these highways. Our bill is going to carry forward the road systems and plans that have already been laid out by Kentucky and the other forty-seven states and the organizations that have been built up during the last five years.

Less than two per cent of the travel on highways of America is interstate, that is, travel from one state to the other. More than ninety-eight per cent of all the highway travel of America is inter-county, that is, travel within the state and in the counties. Our bill is to take care of the travel in the state and in the county as well as the interstate travel. It provides a great system of highways from farm to market, from rural communities to the county seats, from the homes to the churches and the schools, and the producers to the consumers of the country. In other words, we want to bring the rural communities in touch with the towns and cities and the transportation points and stations of the country. It is said that one-half of the perishable products of the Nation is lost each year because of the lack of highways over which to carry that produce to market. More than half of the commerce of the country must be carried over the public highways. The automobiles and the trucks have come into use. More than 5,000,000 of these are already in the hands of the farmers, other persons of the rural communities and the producers of the country, and it will be a great day for America when the people can load up their produce and the products into trucks, etc., and deliver them a hundred or more miles before you could get them loaded on a boat or train and then without the high freight charges. We might add that the highway officials of the forty-eight states, the Road Department of the Federal Government, the great farmer's organizations of the country are behind the plan.

I am very much opposed to the Townsend Plan. The American Automobile Association and the American Automobile Chamber of Commerce, two organizations made up largely of rich men located in the great cities of America, are the "daddies" of the so-called Townsend Plan, and what is the Townsend

Plan?

Senator Townsend in his bill proposes to do away with the present Federal good roads law and to create a new law entirely, to also do away with the present Federal Road Department and in its stead to create a commission of three men who are to receive $10,000,000 a year each with many other high salaried officials. Under the present law and under our plan the initiative in locating the roads to receive Federal aid is with the states themselves, that is, each state picks out the roads and locates the roads on which it desires the Federal aid money to be spent, subject, of course, to the approval of the Road Department at Washington. This plan has worked admirably. The Road Department at Washington has co-operated kindly and friendly with the states in laying out systems of roads, but under the Townsend Plan these three commissioners, situated at Washington, will be directed under this Townsend Bill to lay out the system of roads in America that is to have Federal aid, and if the states don't like it, they can lump it, and under this Townsend law they have two years to lay out this system of roads and those roads must be interstate in character, that is they must be roads running from state to state. In other words a few great transcontinental lines running across America, and that these great roads that this commission will lay out must have at least twenty feet of hard surface in width and this commission can say what material you shall use, the character of the materials, and dictate the entire plan and specifications under which they will be built.

Mark you! They have two years to lay out a system. That means that road construction in America must wait until these three commissioners lay out a system on which Federal aid shall be constructed, and that means that inter-county roads and roads within the state must be disregarded, and it means that this great system of highways that the Legislatures of Kentucky and other states have laid out and that has become partly built and other parts that are now under contract, will be ignored, and it means the tearing up of the entire road system and the road organizations of every state in the Union and necessary to change the constitutions and laws of all the states again.

According to my judgment to now adopt the Townsend Plan would be little less than a crime to the cause of good roads in America, and I never will believe that the United States Senate will do it until it is done. I might add here that I know that Senator Ernst is very earnest in support of the Robison Plan and I am satisfied that Senator Stanley will pursue the same course.

These great automobile organizations in the great states of the country know that these great boulevards and great twenty feet highways will hit their cities and they want a great, wide highway so that they can joy-ride from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. The Townsend Plan takes care of the interstate travel which is less than two per cent, but ignores the inter-county travel which is more than ninety-eight per cent. The great newspapers in the great cities of the country, thru the propaganda that is being put out by the American Automobile Association are writing editorials favoring the Townsend Plan, but all of these editorials have three things in mind, viz:— (a) We are going to have a great commission at Washington to lay out roads. (b) This commission will lay out a system of interstate or transcontinental lines. (c) It will mean a great deal to the tourists of the country. They propose to take care of the joy riders of America. We propose to take care of the farmers, the producers, the consumers and the commerce of America.

The question is—Shall we legislate for the two per cent or the ninety-eight per cent? Shall we legislate for the joy riders or for the business and commerce and the great common class of people in America? We must always bear in mind that the people of the states pay all the money that goes in the Federal roads, that is, the part appropriated by Congress in the first place must come by taxes from the states. Then under the law the state must put up the other half, so that as a matter of fact, the people of the states pay all. Now the people of the states paying it all and coming from every county of America, will we have a few great transcontinental joy riding highways, or will we have a great system or network of highways reaching every county and every community of this great country of ours? While Senator Townsend is from the state of Michigan, and they have a large and fine delegation of men in the House of Representatives, with all the influence of Senator Townsend, all the members of Congress from that great state in the House except one voted for the Robison bill, and are fighting the Townsend Bill teeth and toe nails.

The present road law of Kentucky bears the name of two men from the Eleventh District, Senator Moss from Bell County, who was in the Senate, and Judge Sim Smith, of Clinton County, who was in the House in Kentucky at the time. I saw the leaders and urged that Moss and Smith be placed on the road committee in the Kentucky Legislature. The Kentucky road law bears their name. Now we hope that the Federal Aid Road Law will go thru the Senate as it did in the House of Representatives and bear the name of the Congressman from the Eleventh District of Kentucky, and that the Federal aid road plan in Kentucky and other states be carried forward to success.

Federal aid for good roads has come to stay. We are sure that more than $100,000,000 will be available for this coming year to further aid Kentucky and other states in the construction of good roads.

Chalk up one for the natives of northern India when it comes to flashes of inventive genius. They are using weather-proof bags which automobile tubes are packed in for every purpose from carrying water to nifty head coverings.

D. H. Harper, representative of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., declares that dusky chauffeurs use the bags for carrying water while filling radiators on the road, and it is a common sight to see rice filled tube bags in the hands of natives.

Perhaps the most unique use to which they are put is as caps while working in the shops.

Mrs. Sarah Hughes has resigned her appointment to the public School in the city and has accepted the position of principal of the Artemus Schools. The public school of Artemus is backed by some very progressive citizens and two new rooms have been added making four in all. Music will be taught this year. Mrs. Hughes is considered one of the very best teachers in Knox County. Mrs. Dollie Brown and Ben Hemphill will also teach in this school.
